WHAT OUR CUSTOMERS HAVE TO SAY!

"I dropped the ball when I got the notification that you guys were coming out and did not pick up everything from the backyard. I was really worried about it because the company I used before LW sprayed right on top of the kids toys if I forgot. Today I checked my cameras and Kyle stopped when he got into my backyard and took the time to go thru and pick up everything and put it all on the deck and then complete his work. He was really considerate & moved everything. I immediately showed all of my employees the video & recommended that they use LW because of the integrity shown when you thought no one was watching."

"Yeah Jeremy! Awesome. Friendly, answer my questions, worked so quickly! Look forward to seeing on future visits."

Hi Friends & Neighbors,

It is hard to believe that FALL is already on its way. Years ago, as an 18 or 19-year-old, I heard a line from a Jimmy Buffet song. It went something like this: "years go by faster, not slower, the closer you get to the end." I remember this moment vividly, sitting by a swimming pool in San Diego, pondering that line with my young man brain. You know what? That seems like yesterday, not 40+ years ago. I guess Jimmy was right. Recently, I heard a young preacher say, "every season has its burdens and blessings." He may not yet realize how right he is. Along our journey, God has time-specific experiences for all of us.

On July 29th, I ruptured my Patella Tendon. I was performing a karate kick that I should have given up a season or two ago. For me, this injury meant a forced slowing down. God was giving me an opportunity for greater trust, dependence, and assessment. Sometimes it's humbling and frustrating, but mostly it's been a surprise blessing.

I am also infinitely more appreciative than I was on July 28th. Gratitude is such a powerful force. It is also something too often lacking in our culture.

As I lay in my backyard, waiting for the paramedics, knowing I had a serious injury, I had time to think. The week before my injury, I'd felt that a change was coming. God still speaks, and He had been giving me a heads up. (Although it didn't look how I'd expected!) But there I was, lying on the ground, alone with God and my thoughts. I thanked God for His incredible care these 61 years and sang worship because it eased the pain.

Now weeks into this, I am thankful for small things I took for granted. I guess I needed this. What might you benefit from being thankful for? I found that my list of blessings is so much longer than my hardships. From the microwave to indoor plumbing to first world medicine and medical treatment to Lisa and friends, it goes on and on.

I am also really grateful for you. Thank you for choosing us. We/I love working on your property. We love that you are part of our Living Water Family, and what that support means to the families here at Living Water. Your support also helps the Living Water Foundation do really cool stuff that Lisa and I would have never dreamed of all those years ago when we started. Jimmy was right; time has gone by fast. But man what an amazing, blessed, sweet journey it's been. The best life isn't an easy life. It's simply good. Each season has its burdens and blessings.

Be blessed. Please remember there is someone who is always there for you, who creates blessings and helps you shoulder burdens.

God Bless,
Mike

- Keep watering!
- Deep water trees & shrubs before turning off sprinklers.
- Bring mow height down gradually beginning in October
- Fall feeding of lawn, trees, & shrubs is super beneficial! It helps reverse summer stress.
- Don't leave debris and leaf piles on lawn. That suffocates turf and promotes disease.
- Winterize your sprinkler system!

If you have any questions, ask your Living Water Tech or call or email us.
Be good to yourself and others.
We all need that.
