Commit your work to the Lord & it will succeed - Proverbs 16:3

Hi Friends & Neighbors,

Looking out of my window this morning, I realized one of the things I love is on full display, Second Summer. This is a time when summer and fall converge with the best of the beauty that each season possesses. Now, we used to have a different term for this time of year. My kids inform me from time to time, "Dad, you can't say that anymore." And that term is one of those times. I know language is something that we can argue over, whether a term is okay or not, offensive or not. At this point in my life, I've come to realize that I would rather spend less time arguing and more time enjoying the things I love. It doesn't cause me any harm to just use a different term. And you know what, it actually leaves me more time to enjoy my favorite time of year. I am breathing it all in, and I really hope you can breathe this in too. Enjoy a moment of clear sky, crisp air, leaves changing, green grass, and bright sunshine.

Friends, this has been a hard year. Please don't miss this reprieve, because God knows we need it. Take a walk, get out in an open space, pull your mask down literally and figuratively, and breathe God's gift of air...life. Thank God for this moment. Ask Him to help you, your loved ones, and those that are hard to love...all of us, because we need it. If there is anything this year has been teaching us, it's that we are not in control. We can, however, ask for God's help and say thanks. We can also be in awe of a beautiful day in Second Summer 2020.

Lisa mentioned that she is seeing people begin to prep their yards for winter. This time of year is a reminder to us that a good finish often leads to a good start later. Begin to lower your mow height gradually. A short last mow helps your lawn overwinter better.

Don't let leaves stay on your lawn too long. That can suffocate turf and promote disease. Towards the end of October or into November, applying sulfur and a fall fertilizer is a great practice that will make a big difference in the spring. DON'T forget to winterize sprinkler systems and non-frost-free hose bibs (outside faucets). This is also a great time to prune trees and trim shrubs. General fall cleanup makes such a difference. It's good for the soul as well :) If you need help with any of that, give us a call. Especially for blowing out sprinklers, call us soon as we are filling up fast. Thanks for letting us work for you this year. I know this has been a hard one. Your trust in us means the world.
